

Prairie NWT Region Media Arts Organizations Compensation Review and Recommendations

By Cecilia Araneda

Final: Sept. 28, 2007

SUMMARY

---

BACKGROUND

In April 2007, at the meeting of Prairie NWT Region organizations of the IMAA, compensation and related issues within the individual centres was discussed. It was felt that there were limited resources to guide organizations and their Boards in the area of appropriate compensation packages for staff.

As media arts organizations attempt to continue to deliver excellent service and support to their member artists, their audiences and the greater communities within which they operate, there is the acknowledgement that a key component to their operational success is the capacity to acquire and retain professional staff. Yet, these organizations struggle with limited financial resources and are increasingly asked to do more with less, and as a result their capacity to invest in human resources is also a challenge.

Within this context the Prairie NWT Region media arts organizations moved to undergo a compensation review and recommendation process that would not only review the individual organizations' compensation practices, but also review general compensation practices regionally within the non-profit sector. The objective was to provide recommended compensation levels for work functions in participating organizations.

Organizations participating in this compensation review process are from Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. As there was no permanent staff for the one media arts organization in NWT that's in our region, we didn't have enough information to include them. The Northern territories and provinces comprise a region with unique challenges so information should be gathered for cultural workers in the North in the future. In this particular study of the Prairie Provinces it is acknowledged that there are different cost of living and compensation issues in Calgary, in comparison to the rest of the region. For this reason, indexing to address cost of living is also a consideration.

In addition, even though all the participating organizations are media arts organizations, there is a degree of difference among them:

- In terms of their focus, there are three main areas: (1) presentation and exhibition, (2) dissemination and (3) production support and training; the majority of the organizations focus on one of these areas, while a few organizations have combined focuses.
- The budget variance between organizations is around $200,000 to $750,000 annually, with two main clusters: nine organizations have budgets under $400,000 and three organizations have budgets over $400,000.

As a result of these focus and budget differences, even though job functions are reviewed in groups, it is expected that there is a degree of variation within each of the groups in terms of degree of organizational and planning responsibility, creative and organizational influence and degree of autonomy allowed in decision-making.

ANALYSIS & RECOMMENDATIONS

WAGE / SALARY RECOMMENDATIONS

NOTES:

1. Recommended figures are for the Prairie Provinces as a whole, but, as noted, information for the Northwest Territories hasn't been included. The 2006 Cost of Living index notes that Calgary has a 12% added cost of living in comparison with the rest of the Prairie Provinces.
2. It is assumed that full time is 35 hours a week (with or without a lunch hour separated).
3. Organizations generally have two distinct types of structures: (a) where an Executive Director or Director is the organizational leader and; (b) where there is a more decentralized structure with an Operations Coordinator at the helm.

In the instance of organizations led by Executive Directors / Directors, Directors tend to have higher salaries and Program /Technical Coordinators have lower salaries in comparison. In instances of organizations where organizations are lead by Operational Coordinators, their salaries tend to be at par with the Program Coordinators. For this reason, it may be appropriate for organizations with more decentralized structures to consider lows and highs for Operations Coordinators that are in between the Program / Technical Coordinator "High" and Executive Director "Low".

4. Of the 11 organizations surveyed, nine have budgets under $400,000 and three have budgets over $400,000 (and, indeed: over $500,000). Of the positions titled Executive Director or Director who are compensated at the highest level among prairie organizations, the majority are in the organizations with budgets over $400,000. For this reason, it may be appropriate for organizations with budgets of over $400,000 annually to consider attaining the recommended high for the Executive Director / Director category.
5. In some key cases, Financial Administrators also take on a combined role akin to Program Coordination. In these instances, it may be appropriate to review both recommended salary structures.

OTHER COMPENSATION CONSIDERATIONS

The following are notes for other compensation to consider. These considerations are based on anecdotal data gathering, in reviews via conversation with organizational Executive Directors / Directors / Operations Coordinators.

- VACATION: Only one of the organizations reviewed have vacation structures based on tenure, whereby after five years tenure, an additional week was provided. Most organizations offer 4 weeks paid vacation for staff. Some organizations include the December holiday season break as part of this vacation period, while others provide this break as a period separate from vacation time, where staff can use up their accumulated banked time.
- HEALTH BENEFITS: Most organizations offer an extended health benefits plan for their full time or close to full time staff (24 hours +). Of these, most cover 100% of the extended health coverage. Some organizations in Saskatchewan and Alberta appear to be able to access extended health benefits plans through tagging onto government arts funding agency plans. In Alberta, all organizations surveyed paid for provincial health plans (not applicable in Saskatchewan or Manitoba).
- PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT: Most organizations have some type of professional development incentives for staff. One organization provides four weeks professional development leave, to assist their artistic staff to maintain their individual artistic practice. Most production organizations provide equipment credit allotments in one form or another.
- HOURS OF WORK / OVER TIME: Some organizations offer reduced hours to staff, in order to increase the hourly rate of pay to be more in-line with sector levels; however a percentage of staff (especially at the Executive Director and Program Coordinator level) also report working over-time hours at a rate that will never be recovered through banked time off. The real benefit of reduced hours should be considered. In some cases reduced hours allow artistic staff the time to continue being practicing artists. However, in some cases the real, overall salary may be too low to provide high-level staff with a living wage. Some “near full time” program coordinator staff report either looking for or having a part time or casual job in unrelated areas to subsidize their income.

- 5. PENSION / RRSP CONTRIBUTION: While 17% to 38% of the organizations in the non profit sector compensation survey report providing a pension / RRSP contribution, only 1 in 11 (or 9%) of the organizations provided a matching contribution as a benefit.

EXTERNAL REVIEW

FEDERAL INFORMATION

For the purposes of the external review, specific occupation classifications were reviewed under the National Occupational Classification (or NOC), developed by Human Resources Development Canada. There were no specific matches that correlated perfectly with the media arts organizations in the intra-organizational review, however there were close matches and these have been used.

The following data has been extracted from:

- Service Canada's Job Futures web site (jobfutures.ca), with reference to national averages as at 2004
- Service Canada's Labour Marketing Information web site (labourmarketinformation.ca)

COST OF LIVING REVIEW

Simon Fraser University <http://www.stat.sfu.ca/~cschwarz/SFUFA/EBinfo/StatCan/CostLiving.pdf> has a cost of living comparison available on-line, taken from Canadian Business. For the purposes of this comparison, Toronto is given a rating of 100. The figures below are for the year 2006.

- Calgary: 82.8
- Edmonton: 73.7
- Regina: 74.2
- Saskatoon: 73.5
- Winnipeg: 74.0

These figures indicate that while there is a cost of living difference when reviewing Alberta in comparison to Manitoba and Saskatchewan, the differences are in the following range:

- Manitoba (Baseline): 100%
- Saskatchewan: 100%
- Calgary: 112%
- Edmonton: 100%
